G: recipient is the final end-user; no resale.
A company is not automatically a trader.

HOW TO REPLACE THE EXAMPLE ENTRIES

Parties / letterhead: Use the actual end-user's name or full registered company name, address and contact details. The company itself is the end-user when it uses the vehicle. Enter a different end-user only if it differs from the consignee.

Supplier / exporter: Identify the actual exporter for the procedure. The carrier and seller are not automatically the exporter. All names, street names, cities and contact details shown here are fictional examples.

Vehicle / value: Use the model, year, full 17-character VIN, quantity, weight and invoice value from the supporting documents. The weight and value shown are example figures, not verified vehicle data.

Destination / use: State the actual destination country and full final address. This example assumes personal/company use, no resale, no integration and no planned re-export. Use these statements only if true.

Signature: Use the actual signing place and date. The private end-user signs personally; for a company, an authorised person signs and states their name and role. Never copy a signature from a different document.

Optional / not applicable: Blank fields with blue notes are conditional. A company is not automatically a trader. F and G are marked not applicable for this example. Check the situation again for technology transfers, resale or different end-users.

Before submission: Select the correct official template for the transaction. Transfer accurate details into a fresh version and sign it. The German pages are an unofficial reading translation; the English pages retain the original A1 wording.
